Former Harrisburg

Woman Describes

Typhoon at Okinawa

A FORMER HARRISBURG WOMAN was in the Sept. 26 typhoon on Okinawa in which 13 were killed, 70 injured, many were missing and 2,000 made homeless.

She is Mrs. Jack F. Hudson, whose husband, Col. Hudson, is the new commanding officer of the U. S. Army Quartermaster Group on Okinawa. She is the former Miss Golden Gibbons of Harrisburg, and she wrote of the typhoon in a letter to her sister, Mrs. Guy Roper of Harrisburg. Col. and Mrs. Hudson arrived on Okinawa Sept. 6.

In the letter, dated Sept. 27, Mrs. Hudson has this to say:

"We have been here three weeks. Wednesday night complete black-out. Then it started to rain and blow so hard.

"They woke us up at 4 a. m. the next morning (yesterday), told us typhoon Faye was upon us. It came so fast. They sent a crew of men to button us up—that's what they call it—all shutters down.

"They had us finished by 5:15 a. m. We didn't know what to expect, the house all dark. In case the water was off, I filled with tubs, all the pots and pans with water, rolled up the rug lit the candles, then listened to the radio.

"We were all up and dressed. The radio gave us all the news. There was no school; men didn't have to go to work. Only the ones that had very important things to take care of. We sat and waited to be blown off the island. I didn't know the wind could blow so hard and the rain come down so hard and fast. Today in the paper it said the wind got up to 148 miles an hour.

"Our windows rattled and shook. Rain came in around the cracks of the front and back door and around the windows and we had to keep a mop and bucket handy to mop up.

"Then the lights went off and there was no radio. They stayed off until late afternoon. There was nothing to do but wait. They say it was a short, vicious typhoon. It was all over by three o'clock. Some last two to five days.

"The commissary opened and the women rushed out to shop, thinking the typhoon might last several days, as they sometimes do. One woman was picking in the store and the wind picked her up and sat her down. At that time it was so bad they called the military police and locked about 40 women in the store until the wind settled down. They were fit to be tied. If a woman is going to have a baby within two weeks and a typhoon is on the way they go right to the hospital and stay."

The letter told of the death and destruction.

"The natives are the ones I feel sorry for," Mrs. Hudson wrote. "Their huts are so delicate that some were blown away. The military does everything it can to help out.

"Even the flowers were uprooted. The salt spray kills the plants, too. We are a mile and a half from the ocean and the spray is even on the windows here.

"Today it is just like before—warm and calm and the sun shining. Kids back in school. Men at work."

Leo Lanton, 59, is Killed

Carrier Mills Man Dies in Auto-Truck Crash; Roderick Harris Is Injured

Leo Lanton, 59-year-old World War I veteran from Carrier Mills, was killed yesterday in an auto-truck crash at Thompsonville.

Injured were Roderick Harris, 47, also of Carrier Mills, a patient in a hospital at Benton.

Authorities in Franklin county, where the crash occurred, said apparently Harris was driving the automobile. The incident occurred around 9:30 a. m.

They said that the Carrier Mills auto was driving toward Thompsonville on Route 149 and at the intersection with Route 34 figured in a crash with a big transport truck driven by Earl Roach, 26, of Benton, who was not injured.

Harris was rushed to the hospital in Benton and Lanton's body was taken to the Freeman funeral home, also at Benton, where it remained unidentified for several hours.

After identification was made, Lanton's body was taken to the Thornton funeral home, where it will lie in state after 7 p. m. today.

Lanton is survived by his wife, Sarah, and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Beulah Boyd, Coulterville; Mrs. Lavada Jones, Carrier Mills; Wendell Lanton, Evansville, Ind.; Mrs. Ruby Lewis, Downey; and Russell Lanton, Waymon Lanton and Ralph Lanton, all of Coulterville.

The funeral will be held at the Lake View Baptist church at a time to be announced, and burial will be in the church cemetery. The body will remain at the Thornton funeral home in Carrier Mills until time of the funeral.

State Officials Attend D. A. R. Shawnee Forest Marker Dedication

Mrs. Len Young Smith, Winnetka, state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, L. P. Neff, Harrisburg, supervisor of Shawnee National forest, Mrs. Arthur Carrier, national vice-chairman of conservation for D. A. R., and Mrs. William Small, state vice-regent, D. A. R., addressed a group of officers and members in a ceremony dedicating the Shawnee forest marker, for the 1000 acre shrub leaf pine plantation sponsored and maintained by the D. A. R. near Pounds Hollow.

Mrs. Small spoke of the aims and purposes of the D. A. R. which inspire such projects as this reforestation plantation, planted in 1941 as a memorial of the National Golden Jubilee year of the Illinois State Organization of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, 1890-1940. A stone marker, gift of Mrs. William Buttermore, honorary vice-president of the National Society of D. A. R., 1923, stands beside the new marker.

The new marker, dedicated at Monday's ceremony, is made of cedar and patterned after national forest and historical markers. The ceremony, at 4 o'clock on a perfect fall afternoon, was made more significant by the speech of Mr. Neff, who, as supervisor of the Shawnee National Forest, congratulated the women for their selection of a reforestation program for a project that will live into the future and contribute so much to the national welfare. He spoke of the beginning of the program, of the faltering and slow first steps, and then gave some facts and figures demonstrating the profits in soil conservation, economic investment and natural beauty that are beginning to be realized from reforestation.

Mrs. Arthur Carrier introduced Mrs. Smith in a brief but inspiring speech and Mrs. Small added her voice to this dignified service of dedication.

Among those attending the meeting were: Mrs. Harry A. Shaw, Sterling, state conservation chairman; Mrs. Wayne L. Morgan, Springfield, state chairman of the Illinois directory; Mrs. Ray B. Maxwell, Mt. Vernon, state librarian; Mrs. Robert C. Brogmus, Downers Grove, state approved schools chairman; Mrs. Ralph R. Wilson, Salem, state press and relations chairman; Mrs. Chester J. Wright, Chicago, radio and TV chairman; Mrs. Charles H. Hoinville, Chicago, flag chairman; Mrs. Pierpont Graham, vice chairman of yearbook sales; Mrs. Harry G. Cook, Ottawa, vice-chairman Illinois directory and past librarian; Mr. Neff, speaker, and David Seaberg, acting forest ranger; Mrs. Small, speaker, Petersburg; Mrs. Albert G. Peters, state registrar; Mrs. Carlisle Smith, Galesburg; Mrs. Smith, speaker and state regent; Mrs. L. Evers, Metropolis regent; Miss Maud Fritts, Metropolis vice-regent, and from Harrisburg, Mrs. Frank Gray, regent, Mrs. Mary Musgrave, Mrs. Sam Cape and Mr.

Annual Girl Scout Fund Drive Will Begin Monday

Plans are rapidly taking shape for the annual Girl Scout fund drive to begin Monday. Under the direction of Clayton Slack, Girl Scout mothers, officials, and other interested workers are making last minute plans for the campaign.

This year for the first time the Saline County association is operating as a member of the King Coal council, with many added benefits from camping, planning, and training programs.

One example of the help given by the King Coal council is the training course for Girl Scout leaders to be held Oct. 3, 9, 16, 23 from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. at the Scout room of the Methodist church. This course is to be taught by Miss Mabel Webb, executive director of King Coal council, and is open to all leaders in Saline county and anyone over 18 who might be interested in organizing a new troop or in becoming a leader.

Saturday, on the court house lawn, several Girl Scout troops will display their skill at craft and singing.

Byrd Charges President Failed To Cut Spending

Says Eisenhower Violated Intent Of Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Harry F. Byrd accused President Eisenhower today of violating the intent of Congress by failing to cut federal spending for the current government year.

The Virginia Democrat, leading economy advocate and chairman of the tax-writing Senate Finance Committee, made the charge after publication of the administration's midyear budget review.

The review, released Tuesday night, showed that despite heavy congressional appropriation cuts and military strength reductions the federal government now expects to spend 200 million dollars more than Eisenhower estimated last January—before all the budget cutting furor arose.

The new estimate of federal spending for the 12 months ending next June 30 is 72 billion dollars, instead of the peacetime record $71,800,000,000 predicted by Eisenhower in January.

Government income will slump by 100 million dollars—from the expected $73,600,000,000 to $73,500,000,000 for the year. The 1957-58 surplus will be cut from $1,800,000,000 to $1,500,000,000.

The disclosure dimmed some hopes for a tax cut next year, though Democrats may press for a reduction anyway.

Congress cut Eisenhower's appropriation requests around five billion dollars at its last session. Byrd, who figured the cuts amounted to even more—around six billion—said he had called on the President to reduce spending "by the same amount."

He said the budget review clearly showed the congressional cuts "will result in virtually no reductions in federal expenditures this year." "Obviously," he added, Eisenhower is using unspent funds left over from previous appropriations to keep spending as high or higher than he estimated in January.

Farm Bureau Policy Meeting Thursday, Oct. 10

A county policy development meeting of Farm Bureau members will be held Thursday, Oct. 10, at 7:30 p. m. at the Farm Bureau office in Harrisburg.

Subjects ranging from how to obtain new sources of tax revenue for local governments to the consideration of a national agricultural policy likely will be discussed at various policy development meetings in Saline county in the next two weeks.

To help call some of the possible problems to their attention and provide background material for discussion, the Illinois Agricultural Association tentative resolutions committee has prepared a book with the pros and cons on 13 different subjects.

Orval Gribble is Saline County Policy Development chairman. He points out that many townships will have local or county problems to discuss. "When those are taken care of, many farmers will want to look at state and national issues," he stated.

Rev. McCarty was called by the McKinley Avenue church on May 5, and came to this field May 16, 1954. During his pastorate there have been 223 baptized into the fellowship of the church, and 110 admitted by letter. Four young men have surrendered to the ministry, and a mission has been established in West Harrisburg. The east wing of the educational building was also completed. In addition to the pastoral duties, he completed his college work at Southern Illinois University.

Will Not Change Statement

Gov. Faubus Refuses Additional Assurances to Eisenhower

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus refused today to give President Eisenhower additional assurances that he will prevent interference with integration at Central High School.

"I will stand on the statement I made yesterday," Faubus told a United Press reporter as he drove to a news conference at the Capitol.

After four moderate southern governors held a three-and-a-half-hour conference with the President Tuesday, Faubus issued a declaration saying that if the troops were withdrawn, he would:

"... Resume full responsibility for the maintenance of law and order" and assure the White House that "the orders of the federal courts will not be obstructed by me."

The President studied Faubus' statement and about three-and-a-half hours later said it did not provide "the assurance that he (Faubus) intends to use his full powers as governor to prevent the obstruction to the federal court order."

Faubus made clear that he is determined not to alter the language of his declaration, as a group of go-between southern governors hoped he would do, to break the stalemate between federal and state authorities.

The governor intimated that so far as he is concerned, the next move in the situation is up to Eisenhower.

His stand appeared to quash hopes of four moderate southern governors that Faubus would modify the language of his original statement to conform to what the governors and the White House thought Faubus had agreed to by telephone Tuesday.

Faubus said: "The negotiations were on the (Continued on Page Eight)"

Editor Curtis G. Small Addresses Kiwanis; Members Visit Register

The Harrisburg Kiwanis club observed National Newspaper Week at its regular dinner meeting held last night at the Masonic temple. Curtis G. Small, editor of The Daily Register, was guest speaker and then the members were invited to visit The Register plant.

Mr. Small, stating National Newspaper Week calls attention to freedom of the press, said a free press is really the public's right to know. "Some people in higher places try to avoid press freedom, sometimes to conceal mistakes, but with a free press there is much less chance of difficulties in any branch of government," Mr. Small stated.

He discussed the improvements made in The Daily Register plant since 1951, including a new addition and installation of a more modern press and other equipment necessary to its operation. Besides publishing The Register, two weekly newspapers The Illinois Baptist and two Farm Bureau papers are printed in the plant.

During the visit to The Register following the club meeting, Mr. Small explained the operations of all departments to the group of interested Kiwanians. The speaker was introduced by Arthur M. Debes, Kiwanis publicity chairman.

The club voted to attend the ladies' night fellowship meeting at Herrin on Oct. 15 by bus when most of the club members indicated they would attend. President Richard Davenport expressed hope for a good attendance and announced the Harrisburg club had won the travelling gavel in Division 16 with a bus trip to a meeting at Cario earlier in the year.

Eugene Morris, chairman of the Kids' Day program held last Saturday, gave a report on the sale of peanuts by Kiwanians and Key club members. The Rev. William Burroughs was top salesman for the Kiwanians and David Nelson was top salesman for the Key clubbers.

David Flota was introduced as a new member of the club and the Rev. Charles Scott, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene and new president of the Harrisburg Ministerial association, was a guest of Ronnie Doerge. Also guests at last night's meeting were David Nelson and Bobby Pavelonis, members of the HTHS Key club.

Have Guided President in Crisis: Hagerty

Eisenhower Refuses

To Remove Troops as

Faubus Qualifies Pledge

By MERRIMAN SMITH

United Press White House Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House declared today four "legal principles" on school integration and called on the people and governor of Arkansas to fall in step with President Eisenhower on them.

They added up to "obey court orders."

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty released a text of the principles, which, he said, were read to the southern governors' committee Tuesday and have "guided the President" in the school integration crisis.

"We sincerely hope that the good people of the state of Arkansas and Little Rock, as well as the governor, will follow the legal principles which have guided the President," Hagerty said.

Eisenhower refused Tuesday night to go through with a tentative agreement for troop withdrawal from Little Rock's Central High School worked out by a mediaing committee of southern governors Tuesday. He refused because Gov. Orval E. Faubus inserted qualifying words in his pledge to enforce the court's desegregation order if troops were pulled out.

Next Move Up to Faubus

The White House attitude today, Hagerty said, was that the next move is up to Faubus.

Eisenhower's four principles, in summary:

1. It is the right of the local communities, not the federal administration, to make plans to carry out the Supreme Court's desegregation ruling. However, the courts have made clear that the Department of Justice, when invited by the courts, must participate in court action to enforce school desegregation.

2. It is up to the courts to pass on the reasonableness of the speed with which local authorities decide to carry out school desegregation. "Law of the Land"

3. "A final order of a federal court giving effect to a desegregation public school plan must be obeyed by state authorities and all citizens as the law of the land. . . . Final orders of the federal courts carrying out this principle must be observed. It is the duty of the state authorities to give full aid to the enforcement of a desegregation public school plan once it is finally ordered by the court."

4. "Powers of a state governor may not be used to defeat a valid order of a federal court. . . . The governors of the respective states have the primary responsibility for maintaining domestic order. However, under a pretext of maintaining order a governor may not interpose military force or permit mob violence to occur so as to prevent the final order of a federal court from being carried out."

"When an obstruction of justice has been interposed or mob violence is permitted to exist so that it is impracticable to enforce the laws by the ordinary course of judicial proceedings, the obligation of the President under the Constitution and the laws is incapable. He is obliged to use whatever means may be required by the particular situation."

Four "moderate" southern governors arranged the abortive compromise between the President and Faubus Tuesday.

Condemned

Editorial By Bruce Blossat

Sometimes the great Russian propaganda machine, for all its size and well-oiled smoothness, can utter only the most pitiful squeaks. This is such a time. The noises emanating from Moscow and Budapest in reply to the U. N.'s condemnation of Soviet intervention last year in Hungary are barely audible in the auditorium of world opinion.

The reason is simple. There is no answer, real or contrived, to the U. N.'s 60 to 10 vote. The Russians and their pathetic minions can only splutter like a fading radio signal.

What the United Nations did was to put its overwhelming stamp of approval on one of the most painstaking reports ever submitted to its councils. That report, the work of a special committee, declared in the bluntest terms that Russia in 1956 brutally crushed a popular uprising in Hungary against Communist tyranny.

The revolt had its origins among the Hungarian people. They sought to cast off the chains of slavery. Russia met this threat to its control of the Hungarian nation and perhaps the whole satellite orbit by sending its own armies across the border to smash the rebels with maximum force.

The bloody details of that suppression were set forth in the report for all to read. They were thoroughly documented. And they reduced to sham and fraud all Soviet claims that the rebellion was inspired from "outside" and that the Hungarians asked Russian help in putting it down.

Confronted with this devastating account, the course of nations committed to ideals of international morality was clear. They had no choice but to condemn, and to try to seek such relief for Hungary as lies within their command.

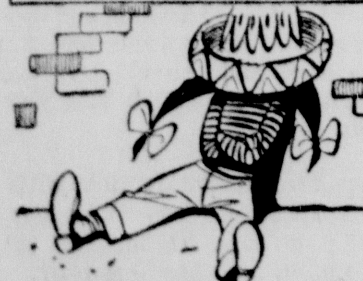

Only Communist nations, including independent Yugoslavia voted against the censure. Sadder to relate is the abstention of 10 others, including India and Ceylon.

Tiny Ceylon's stand is almost incredible, since it had a representative on the investigating committee who obviously was in full agreement with the report's conclusions. India's behavior was less a surprise, but more regrettable. That India should interpret its "neutrality" to mean necessary silence in the face of gross international immorality is an unhappy circumstance.

No amount of righteous, high-toned words from Prime Minister Nehru or others can conceal the shame that falls upon India for not having spoken out against Russian crimes in Hungary.

But, while India and the other abstainers huddled pathetically in their little isolation booth, the rest of the free world spoke for the conscience of all men of good will in condemning the Soviet Union.

"Another Example of Violence in America"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: United States is losing Near East as we did Red China; Turkey wants to attack Syria before it becomes a pro-Russian menace; King Saud hates Israel more than he fears Russia.

BEIRUT, Lebanon—A trip thru the Arab states leaves you with the depre ed feeling that what happened to the United States in China is now happening in the Near East. The Arab world, once the great friend of America, is slipping through clumsy diplomatic fingers.

There are three reasons for this: 1. We have staked our policies on the kings of the Arab world, at a time when the restless masses are ready to relegate royalty to the limbo of forgotten things. Actually we haven't much else to rely on. If King Feisal of Iraq, King Hussein of Jordan and King Saud of Saudi Arabia go, there is no one else in the Arab world except President Chamoun of Lebanon who will stand up for us. The old order is going, yet we have no friends in the new.

2. We have zig-zagged with such haphazard policies that even our best friends never know quite where we are. We urged the British to get out of Suez before they had any guarantees from Nasser. We offered Nasser the Aswan dam, then pulled it away from him, later rescued him from the British and France at Suez. We blasted Syria, then modified our stand toward Syria. Loy Henderson, Dulles's special envoy, refused to see the foreign minister of Syria but now Dulles says he'll be glad to see the same foreign minister.

3. After undermining the British position in the Near East and thereby causing a power vacuum, we have done nothing to fill that vacuum.

Distances are short in the Near East. The whole area isn't much bigger than New York State and New England. Damascus, the capital of Syria, is about as far from Beirut, capital of Lebanon, as Trenton, N. J. is from New York. Lebanon, a semi-Christian country surrounded by Moslems, isn't much bigger than Delaware. Israel is the same size as Massachusetts. Amman, capital of Jordan is much closer to Tel Aviv, Israel, than New York is to Boston. Beersheba in southern Israel is thirty minutes by air from Cairo—if planes were flying, which they aren't.

In this close juxtaposition of suspicious peoples, what your neighbor does a few miles away, sends political tremors thru the streets of every capital in the Near East. Up in Damascus, sixty miles from Beirut, the Syrians have had the jitters over a Turkish attack. This was the chief backstage reason for the sudden, unexpected visit of King Saud and the big Arab show of solidarity last week. The State Department has also had a certain amount of jitters over Turkey, which is one reason John Foster Dulles reversed State Department policy and began to unbend a bit toward Syria. The State Department fears that any attack on Syria by Turkey would bring Russian intervention and touch off World War III.

Real fact is that Turkish Ambassador Esin's speech in the UN warning of Communist arms in Syria had much more behind it than appeared on the surface. The Turks face exactly what Israel faced last summer when a tremendous flow of Russian arms was piling up on the Egyptian-Israeli border. Fearful of what would happen once Russian "volunteers" used those arms or trained Egyptians to use them, Israel attacked.

Now Czech arms are piling up in Syria on the Turkish border. To the north in the Black Sea, Russia has a naval force three times the size of the U. S. 6th Fleet—and the 6th Fleet is a powerful striking force of 75 warships. Moscow has also been beaming radio broadcasts to the Kurdish tribes inside Turkey aimed at inciting them against the Turkish government.

All this explains why Turkey is worried and has been considering doing what Israel did—striking before it is too late.

To this end Turkey has been talking to her Baghdad pact ally, Iraq, which is also anti-Communist, also fears Russian penetration of Syria.

It was this explosive situation which caused King Saud to make his special trip to Damascus, and simultaneously send his brother Crown Prince Faisal to call on President Eisenhower.

Actually Saud is just as much worried about Russian penetration of Syria as the United States. But his hatred of Israel is greater than his fear of Russia. And any disunity among the Arab states, he figures, could only play into the hands of Israel.

So he went to Damascus where at a state dinner under the flags of all the Arab states, he and Premier Ali Jawdat of Iraq made it clear there was complete Arab unity.

"I deplore every aggression on Syria and on any other Arab country from whatever source it comes," said King Saud meaningfully, with one eye on Turkey and the other on Israel.

Meanwhile his crown prince and prime minister advised Eisenhower to kiss and make up with Syria. He told the President that Secretary Dulles's warning about Communism in Syria was driving Syria deeper into Russian arms. Syria, he said, is anxious to patch things up with the United States and be a friend of the West.

Just how this is possible with some $150,000,000 worth of Czech arms pouring into Syria and with harbors, railroads, highways and irrigation projects built with Russian capital, the crown prince of Saudi Arabia did not explain.

Traffic Toll Down in State

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—The September traffic toll on Illinois highways will be down about 30 per cent from the September, 1956 level, state safety officials reported today.

Final figures for the past month will not be available until Oct. 15. However, Robert A. Campbell, superintendent of traffic safety, said projected figures for the month indicate a total of 127 traffic deaths for the state's highways.

The 127 fatalities compares with 181 in the same month last year. Campbell said the September total will place Illinois about 3 per cent under the 1956 toll for the first nine months of the year.

Campbell said September was the third month which reflected a new state safety program backed by Governor Stratton. July deaths were down 26 per cent and August 17 per cent.

Stratton said the preliminary September report was "a new indication that the new traffic safety program is working."

The safety program includes a

New Flower Arrangement Introduced at Shower

A new idea in flower arrangement was introduced at the shower for grandmothers-to-be, given by Mrs. Carl J. Hauptmann and Mrs. O. L. Turner Jr. in the Turner home, Monday, for Mrs. Carl Rude and Mrs. Eli Lasersohn.

Mrs. Hauptmann's arrangement of a Rock-a-bye Baby tree for the breakfast buffet table was so unusual that the guests have commented as much about it as they did the costumes worn by the grandmothers present.

The tree was fashioned of a branched twig, whitened and set in a base of plastic blocks. The base was made festive with standing rows of ruffled yellow net and yellow chrysanthemums. The tree was "growing" yellow chrysanthemum blossoms from all of the branches and, in addition, two cradles hung from the upper branches, in which there were doll babies neatly tucked in the cradles and gently swinging with any small breeze.

Table flower arrangements were of particular interest to the guests at this time with flower shows being scheduled by the Harrisburg and Carmi garden clubs within the next two weeks.

Miss Barbara Ann Upchurch and Russell V. McDowell Exchange Vows

Mr. and Mrs. Russell V. McDowell (Foster Studio Photo)

Miss Barbara Ann Upchurch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Upchurch, 419 South McKinley, Harrisburg, and Russell V. McDowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Poitner, Silver Springs, Maryland, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. McDowell, 634 North Webster street, Harrisburg, were married in the McKinley Avenue Baptist church at 3 o'clock on Sept. 15.

The Rev. J. D. McCarty performed the double-ring ceremony before the altar, covered in bridal white and decorated with baskets of gladioli and chrysanthemums, and a wedding arch entwined with greenery and white blossoms. The altar was bordered by a low picket fence, decorated with greenery and flowers.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a ballerina length wedding gown of embroidered tulle and net over satin. The square neckline and short sleeves were bordered with embroidered scallops. Her headdress of lace and sequins, secured her fingerlength veil of illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white shasta daisies on a pearl Bible, gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Harry Border, close friend of the bride, served as her matron of honor and wore a dress of light blue lace, fashioned on princess lines. Her headdress was of light blue material and she carried a colonial bouquet of white daisies.

Kathy Jean Parrish was the flower girl and wore a floorlength dress of pink net over taffeta. She wore a pink hairbow and carried a pink and white basket of rose petals which she dropped in the bride's path.

Harry Border acted as the best man for the bridegroom.

Ronnie Wilson and Phillip Boren were ushers.

Mrs. Phillip Boren kept the bride's book and registered the guests as they entered the church. The bride's mother wore a suit of periwinkle blue, with black accessories, complemented with a corsage of pink gladioli.

The mother of the bridegroom was unable to attend the wedding of her son.

The grandmother of the bridegroom chose a dress of orchid color and black accessories. Her corsage was of white gladioli.

Miss Mary Fulkerson, organist, played a medley of songs preceding the wedding ceremony. She played the wedding marches and accompanied Doyle Hedger as he sang, "Because," "I Love You Truly," "The Lord's Prayer," in benediction at the close of the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. McDowell left immediately following the wedding for a honeymoon trip and are at home to their friends at 200 East Church street, since their return.

The bride is employed by the Dotty Shop of Harrisburg.

Mr. McDowell has resumed his studies in the Junior class at SIU, Carbondale.

Saline County College Club Meets at Wilson Cabin

The Saline County College Club held its September meeting at the Stanley Wilson cabin on West Church street. Hostesses for the initial meeting of the year were Mrs. Stanley Wilson Jr., Mrs. John Crawford Wilson, Mrs. C. E. Combe, Mrs. Richard Jelliffe, Mrs. James Arensman, and Mrs. H. N. Jarvis. Fragrant roses from the lovely garden of Mrs. J. C. Lightner added to the attractiveness of the newly decorated cabin. Members thoroughly enjoyed the delicious buffet supper consisting of homemade rolls, baked ham, molded salads, assorted relishes coffee, ice cream and cake, served from a beautifully appointed supper table.

Following the supper, a short business meeting was held. It was obvious that the program committee (Mrs. Walton W. Chunn, Mrs. Jim Arensman, Mrs. C. E. Combe, and Mrs. Richard Jelliffe) had been active during the summer, for program booklets were handed out at the first meeting, and those present got a preview of the interesting events planned for the year.

Executive officers for the 1957-1958 year are: President, Mrs. H. N. Jarvis; vice president, Mrs. Carl Shewmaker; secretary, Mrs. Fred G. Lindsay; treasurer, Mrs. Cecil Garavalia.

Committees other than the program committee mentioned above are as follows:

Ways and Means: Mrs. J. J. Klein, Mrs. Richard Jelliffe, Mrs. Harold Parker, and Mrs. Wayne Dixon;

Vocational: Mrs. James Arensman, Mrs. Russell Malan, Mrs. Carl Shewmaker, Mrs. Guy Hunter, and Mrs. Madge Roberson;

Publicity: Mrs. Fred Lindsay and Miss Barbara Thompson;

Courtesy: Mrs. James Sullivan and Mrs. Tom Davenport;

Budget: Mrs. John C. Wilson and Mrs. Cecil Garavalia;

Auditing: Mrs. C. E. Combe and Mrs. John Hill.

Since the organization of the College club in 1925, its major project has been to provide a loan fund for worthy college students. This year, however, Mrs. Arensman, chairman of the vocational committee, suggested that in as much as so many more scholarships are available to ambitious students today, money be used to further educational progress of young people in some other way. Members present agreed with Mrs. Arensman that it would be an excellent idea for each member to become familiar with scholarships in her particular field and in other assigned fields. This information would then be passed on to prospective college students needing financial assistance. With the cooperation of Harold Bauman, vocational adviser at the H.T.H.S., the College club of Saline county hopes to render greater service to the youth of the county.

The ways and means committee reported plans to sponsor one or two plays to be presented during the month of October by the Southern University Players. "Sleeping Beauty" definitely will be given. The other play being considered is "She Stoops to Conquer." Further details will be announced later, according to Mrs. Walton Chunn, chairman of ways and means.

The club voted to contribute twenty-five dollars to the Girl Scout organization, since members feel that that group does so much to promote the advancement of the young people of America.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, the members enjoyed playing bridge and linch. Prizes were won as follows: High at pinocle, Miss Barbara Thompson; low, Lorene Shewmaker. High at bridge, Barbara Bing; low, Beth Cutting.

Mrs. Ruppert Bing, Mrs. Bill Beasley, and Miss Jane Radcliffe, the new music supervisor in the Harrisburg city school system, are new members who were welcomed at the September meeting. Mrs. Jim Beasley and Mrs. Don Scott were unable to attend.

The October meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Guy Hunter in Carrier Mills. Assistant hostesses will be Mrs. Fred G. Lindsay, Mrs. J. G. Parkhurst, and Mrs. Wayne Dixon. All members are urged to come and to bring guests who are eligible to join College club.

Ghosts Haunt Saturday Night Hayride

Collins, Randall Ervin, Elaine Parker, Penny Wise, Jim my Wise, Linda Nolen, Rick Hargrave, Charles Bebout, Myrna Starnes, Bob Starnes, Gloria Raipes, Bobby Hill, Nelson Collins, Gary Leverett, Sharon Estes, Pat Moore, Linda Barger, Glen Daugherty Jr. and two "ghosts." The ghosts turned out to be two of the hayriders who slipped away to frighten the group. Chaperones were Rev. and Mrs. Glen Daugherty and Mr. and Mrs. Gates.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Hetherington have returned to their home in Evansville after visiting friends and relatives in Harrisburg during the past week end.

Mrs. Herbert Gunter of Galatia, who has been a patient at Ferrell hospital, Eldorado, for about ten days, is reported to be improving.

Church Council Approves Broad Family Life Policy

NEW YORK (AP)—A broad family life policy approving remarriage of widows and advocating full equality for wives has been set forth by an official of the National Council of Churches, leading voice of Protestantism in the United States.

The policy was outlined by the Rev. William Genne, executive director of the council's family life department. It was offered as guidance to the 37 million members of 30 Protestant and Eastern Orthodox churches represented by the council.

Genne said the council wanted to clarify the family life matters for Protestants because Pope Pius XII said Monday Catholic women should subordinate themselves to their husbands and earlier had advised widows not to remarry.

"We hope the public will understand there is a Protestant point of view on these things," Genne said.

Various Protestant denominations are not in complete agreement on family matters, Genne said, but there is near-unanimity on these points:

—The individual is responsible for acting in accordance with his own conscience.

—Widowhood is not necessarily a higher spiritual state nor any more desirable than remarriage.

—The general feeling is that marriage should be a team arrangement, with neither partner holding a necessarily upper hand.

OUT OUR WAY

THE LATE BREAKFAST

... I'm tempted, Miss Casement. She put her coffee cup down. "Now, what shall we do? I must see Mr. Gillespie just to be polite, and Miss—I forget her name. Would it inconvenience you terribly to wait?"

Sarah kept surprise out of her voice. "Not at all."

"Oh, I forgot. What would you consider sufficient compensation, Miss Casement?"

For a moment the efficient housewife peered from behind the mourning widow of the great artist.

"Two thousand dollars. Plus expenses, of course."

"That's a lot," Mrs. Melville said flatly.

"Not really, Mrs. Melville. You don't want this thing rushed or skimpy, I imagine. You want care and thought—no art—put into it?"

"Yes, I see that." The housewife withdrew. "I think you have the feel of it, Miss Casement."

The gambic had worked. Mrs. Melville had judged Sarah's opinion of the importance of her husband's memorial by the sum she set on its execution.

THE STORY: Although no one believes her story, Sarah Casement knows someone was in the room with painter Grant Melville just before he "fell" four floors to his death. Learning that the widow wants someone to help her with Melville's biography, Sarah applies for the job.

III

The door to the inner room opened and a tall, thin, dejected man came out. It was the owner of the hat. He paused in the doorway to say anxiously over his shoulder, "You'll let me know, Mrs. Melville?"

Sarah's heart was wrenched for him. He looked uncertain and eager, and nice. From behind him Mrs. Melville said, "I have your telephone number. Thank you, Mr. Dennert," and Mr. Dennert picked up his hat fumblingly and faded away.

Gazing after him, Sarah frowned. The arty woman was one thing, you could see her anywhere in the city of New York, particularly in the Village, but Mr. Dennert was completely ordinary—why the impression that she had seen him before, too?

Standing in the doorway, Mrs. Melville beamed at the rest of them. A jangle to her left told Sarah that the other woman was on her feet. The man at the window walked toward Mrs. Melville and said pleasantly, "I'm Gillespie."

Sarah interrupted him. "I know this isn't a meat counter, but I did get here first," she said, annoyed.

The other woman said eagerly, "I'm Miss Dolwin, Crystabel Dolwin. I knew your husband—a wonderful man. He was an inspiration to me. . . . You remember my call, Mrs. Melville?"

Mrs. Melville said, "Yes, yes, I do. I'm sorry to inconvenience you. I'm behind schedule, but there have been so many applicants."

She didn't look sorry, she looked like a pleased child playing a new game. She smiled at Sarah. "You're Miss Casement for 11 o'clock. Do come in."

The inner room was long, large, high-ceilinged, and crowded with furniture. A fire snapped on the hearth. Its light and shadow accentuated the confusion of walls hung solid with oils. This was Grant Melville's habitat, this was one of the rooms in which he had lived. Was it his taste, or his wife's?

Mrs. Melville was arranging herself rustlingly on a red velvet love seat. She waved at a little damask bergere opposite the coffee table in front of her.

"Do sit down, Miss Casement. Coffee?"

Sarah accepted coffee in a Spode cup. Mrs. Melville went on rustling as she poured. She wore a long black taffeta affair softened with a profusion of creamy lace; it could be a housecoat or a tea gown, if you still admitted the existence of tea gowns. The room was hot, the air heavy with the odor of roses. It began to assume the atmosphere of an odd if not unpleasant dream.

Still with her naive, pleased, amateur air Mrs. Melville said, "Now, I'm planning to have a book done on my husband, who died not quite three weeks ago, and the sooner the work is begun the better. He was a great man, Miss Casement, a great painter and a loss to the world of art."

"Yes," Sarah said. "Portraits I know."

Mrs. Melville smiled radiantly. "A wretched man from the Art Mart said he owned one of Grant's water colors. Grant never did water colors."

Grant Melville had certainly not required brains when he provided himself with a wife. Mrs. Melville was silly and impressionable. It occurred to Sarah for the first time that she might actually get the job. She painted a somewhat glowing picture of her own early and wretched experience as a newspaper correspondent, blew up her copywriting and institutional.

Mrs. Melville said: "I'd like a little of your family background. You see, the person I choose will be in and out of my house both here and in the country, and will have complete access to the life and—records of my husband. It must be someone I like, do you see, and trust with my very dearest recollections. . . ."

"My mother was Eleanor Bingham. General Bingham's daughter, they lived in Pennsylvania."

Mrs. Melville beamed. "Oh, yes indeed, I do know the name. I lived in Pennsylvania, too. You're that family. The dear general—such a distinguished career. And the Pennsylvania background, too."

Hoffa Bandwagon Gaining Strength In Race for Teamster Presidency

MIAMI BEACH (AP)—The Jimmy Hoffa bandwagon appeared today to be turning into a full-fledged steamroller in the race to succeed retiring Union President Dave Beck as top man in the nation's largest union.

Hoffa's bid for the $50,000-a-year labor post seemed to gain momentum by the hour while his opponents apparently were deadlocked in the much-reported plans they were considering formation of a coalition to stop the Teamsters' bidwest boss.

Endorsements for Hoffa from several big delegations came Tuesday night shortly after Chief Justice Earl Warren removed the last legal threat to election at the Teamsters convention by refusing a plea to call off the contest. The 44-year-old Detroit labor leader added the votes of the Los Angeles Joint Council, the New England and the eastern conferences as the union's convention went into its third day.

Teamsters Executive Vice-President Einar O. Mohn, previously neutral, threw his support to Hoffa at a meeting of the Los Angeles group.

Meanwhile, Hoffa's opponents said they would make another try at a coalition today. William A. Lee, Chicago vice president, won support from the National Bakery Drivers Council late Tuesday night. However, he failed to show the votes necessary to back up his claim that Hoffa has been "stopped."

Lee and the two other candidates—Thomas J. Haggerty of Chicago and Thomas Hickey of New York—met separately Tuesday and were reported ready to try once more to decide on a coalition and which one of the three should remain in the race. Tuesday night's attempts at a coalition apparently did not go off smoothly.

The four special maids of honor were Miss Margaret Matteson Wightman, Miss Josephine Calhoun Noel, Miss Jane Bemis Conant and Miss Priscilla Sands Hocker.

basis of these two points: First—that I would assume responsibility to maintain law and order; second—that I would not obstruct the orders of the courts."

"That pledge was contained in my statement issued Tuesday. I will stand on that statement."

A few minutes later, Faubus repeated his decision to a crowded news conference.

"I am standing pat on the statement issued Tuesday just as it is," he said.

Newsman asked if he would guarantee to Mr. Eisenhower that he would protect the nine Negro children presently enrolled in Central High School.

"Protection is already guaranteed by the federal government," Faubus replied.

He said it is "evident there will be some disorder when federal troops pull out."

Asked if he would use the National Guard to protect the Negro children if federal troops leave, Faubus said he did not like to comment on "iffy questions."

Faubus described himself as "dissatisfied, amazed and disappointed" at Eisenhower's decision to keep troops in Little Rock.

Norris City Man Dies in Car Crash

Richard E. Williams, 17, of Norris City, was killed in a two-car crash Tuesday morning on U. S. 60 near Lewisport, Ky. He was an employee of the Stevens Drilling company of Henderson, Ky.

Injured in the same wreck was his companion, John Robert Williams, 28, uncle of the dead man, and also employed by the drilling firm.

Driver of the second car, Horace Dowell, 38, of Hardinsburg, Ky., was reported in serious condition at Owensboro-Daviess county hospital.

The Norris City residents were believed to be returning to work on an oil lease near Cloverport, Ky. A heavy fog hindered vision at the time of the accident.

Age Should Not Keep You From Sports

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It's not old age and the body that slows you down—it's your mind.

That's what University of California professor Dr. Laurence E. Morehouse says is the reason men of 70 and 80 can perform physical feats as well as men of 20 and 30. The secret is everyday physical activity.

Morehouse, a physical education expert, said that "any adult who wants to get in good enough condition to enjoy some sport or other can do so at any age."

"Of course he can't start where he left off when a youth and he must build up gradually, but he'll end up enriching his life through enjoyment of sports," he added.

Morehouse said persons who are 40 today "can look forward to 40 more years of active participation in athletics." The slight deterioration of strength and speed caused by age will not be important to the average person, he said.

Jeers Greet Negro Students At Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Nine Negro students entered Central High School without a troop escort this morning. They were greeted by jeers and catcalls from some 40 white students who had assembled on the school steps.

The Negroes, six girls and three boys, were driven to school as usual in an Army station wagon preceded and followed by jeeploads of National Guardsmen.

The students got out and walked unescorted across the campus. Instead of walking up the front steps, as on previous days, they veered and entered the building through a side entrance on the ground level.

A group of 40 to 50 white boys and girls stood on the steps awaiting their arrival. Such a group has been on the steps each morning since integration began.

As it became apparent that the Negro children would not walk up the steps through this crowd, some of the white youths shouted "chicken" and made jeering noises.

National Guardsmen, now under federal command, resumed daytime sentry duty around the school at dawn, relieving paratroopers of the 101st Airborne Division who had stood the night watch.

Mrs. Lucius C. Bates, Arkansas president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said the Negro students had "a terrible day" at school Tuesday.

Mrs. Bates said that pencils, papers and pebbles were thrown at the children. She said the girls were shown knives and were shoved.

"When they asked a guardsman about reporting the incidents he just moved away," the Negro woman said. "They (the children) got no protection."

Mrs. Margaret Jackson, vice president of the anti-integration "Mothers League" of Central said "wonderful" when told of Mrs. Bates statement.

"I have no animosity in my heart for colored people but there is resentment in our hearts . . . that never was there before."

Mrs. Jackson said "every day the President leaves his troops in Little Rock he contributes to our cause."

Mrs. Bates said that the children would continue to go to school as long as the President assures them protection.

Wife of Bridgeport Policeman Killed In Freak Gun Accident

BRIDGEPORT, Ill. (AP)—Former Bridgeport policeman's wife was killed Tuesday in a freak gun accident.

Authorities said Claude Gray and his wife, Mary, 69, were in the yard watching some birds that had been annoying them. Gray sent his wife in the house after his 32-caliber pistol.

Mrs. Gray dropped the holstered gun as she removed it from the drawer and it discharged. The bullet struck her in the heart, killing her instantly.

Mayoralty Election Contest Suit Set Nov. 10 in Mt. Vernon

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (AP)—A mayoral election contest suit here has been set for Nov. 10 in Jefferson County Circuit Court.

Judge Randall Quindry set the trial date today. Joseph Dull, who was defeated by only 37 votes by Mayor Virgil Bailey in the April election, filed the contest. He said illegal votes were cast in the election.

Bailey filed an answer Monday. He said ballots and other election equipment were not properly preserved after the election and charged fraud on the part of some election officials.

Bailey also charged that 304 persons cast illegal absentee ballots for Dull.

Cave-In-Rock Sixth Grade Students Visit Daily Register

The sixth grade of the Cave-In-Rock school, numbering more than 25 pupils, visited The Daily Register office with their teacher, Tuesday. Roy Curtis Small took the class on a conducted tour and explained the workings of the personnel, the teletype machine, the Linotype machines, presses, and all of the factors that go into the printing and distributing of a newspaper. The print shop was not neglected and the pupils saw all sizes and color of paper and envelopes, in different stages of production.

Charles E. Kaegi is the principal of the Cave-In-Rock school.

Confidential Libel Case is Ruled Mistrial

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—One of the most sensational courtroom dramas in movieland history—the Confidential magazine criminal libel trial—was listed as a flop today after the jury failed to reach a verdict and dismissed in the 13th day of deliberation.

The trial came to a sudden end Tuesday when the much-confused jurors revealed they were "hopelessly deadlocked" 7-5 for conviction. Superior Judge Herbert V. Walker declared a mistrial and set Oct. 10 for discussion of a possible new trial.

Whether a new trial will take place remains a big question mark. The prosecution had vowed to "fight it to the end" for a conviction but the defense maintained a new trial "will be a shameful waste of the taxpayers' money."

The jury's dismissal climaxed more than six weeks of dragging the alleged private activities of top movie stars through the limelight and nearly two weeks of actual deliberation. The time spent deliberating tied a Los Angeles county record of 13 days for a criminal trial.

Individual defendants Fred and Marjorie Meade, the husband-wife operators of an alleged Hollywood listening post for Confidential, were in court when the jury was "thanked" and dismissed.

Burns are less severe in the eye because of a normal film of moisture in front of the cornea, according to Encyclopedia Britannica.

HODGE IN MORE TROUBLE—Former Illinois State Auditor Orville Hodge appeared at a press conference in Chicago and said he has been falsely accused of stealing more than one million dollars in State funds. Hodge, now serving a ten year sentence at Menard (Ill.) prison for stealing more than two million dollars from State funds, was brought to Chicago on a new conspiracy charge lodged against him and his ex-attorney J. Roy Browning. Both pleaded innocent. The case was continued to Nov. 11. (NEA Telephoto)

Any life insurance agent who recommends the cancellation of a permanent plan of insurance is not only violating the Illinois Insurance Dept. laws, but ethics of the life insurance profession as well.

In addition, any agent who does this is taking advantage of the insured for his own selfish interest, in the form of first year commission.

In the event you are approached with such a proposal, we suggest that you write direct to the company with which you are now insured for a reasonable explanation. The policy you now hold is much better than one which such a person might attempt to sell you, because you are now older, and your present policy has probably passed the contestable period which is in all policies written in Illinois.

New Type of Applications for License Plates

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Illinois motorists will make application for their 1958 license plates on a new type of application blank, Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter said today.

When he fills out the upper part of the blank, the car owner will also be making out his own identification card, which is attached to the back of the application blank, Mr. Carpentier said.

No carbon paper is required to make the copy, but a typewriter or ball point pen should be used in filling in the required information, he said.

Both pieces — the application blank and the card—must be submitted to his office for processing, Secretary Carpentier declared. They should not be separated, he emphasized. The identification card will be returned with the li-

Use of the new form is expected to speed up mailing of license plates substantially because it eliminates the necessity of photographing the upper part of the application by a dextragraph process to produce the identification card. Mr. Carpentier said.

In Springfield and Chicago, where plates are sold over the counter, the motorist will receive both the plates and his identification card at the same time, instead of having to wait for the card to be mailed at a later date.

In addition to the improved service to the motorist, the new system is expected to result in a saving to the Ill. taxpayer of about $60,000 a year because of the elimination of the need for one dextragraph copy and the postage and envelopes for mailing cards for over-the-counter sales, Secretary

Because Secretary Carpentier's office is attempting to standardize names of applicants for all motor vehicle matters, including certificate of title, registration and driver's license, some additional requirements are being started concerning the applicant's name.

The full name is now required on the application. For example it should be shown as Brown James Richard. In cases where the individual has no middle name, it should be done this way: Brown,

James (none). If the individual has no middle name, but just a middle initial, that should be shown like this: Brown, James R. (only)

Women should use their given names, whether they are married or single. "Brown, James R. Mrs." is not acceptable. It must be shown: Brown, Mary Jane.

* Complete, bona fide addresses must be given. P. O. Box or General Delivery addresses will not be accepted unless there are no street names or numbers in the town.

WALLINGFORD, Conn. — (UP) —Borough Warden John A. Buza was a strong advocate of the plan for the 104-year-old borough of Wallingford to be incorporated into the town of Wallingford. His campaigning was so effective that voters overwhelmingly cast their ballots for the incorporation. When it becomes official next January, Buza's job will be abolished.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Refugee Camp Near Jericho Crumples Morale As Its Walls Once Crumpled; Refugees Demand To Return To Israel; Politicians Keep The Issue Red Hot.

JERICHO, JORDAN.—Just outside this ancient city whose walls crumpled when Joshua blew seven times on seven trumpets is one of the great festering trouble-spots of the Near East.

The city of Jericho is without walls today. It sprawls out at the northern tip of the Dead Sea, 1,300 feet below sea level, where the Jordan river pours its fresh water into a body of water that is so salty fish cannot live. For miles around, the shore is pure salt crystal.

It's hot alongside the Dead Sea, stifling hot. But between Jericho and the sea is a camp of 35,000 refugees, fled from Israel during the Arab attack of 1948. They now clamor to go back. And their clamor, plus that of other refugees, constitutes the most upsetting political force in this upset part of the world.

These are the poor refugees, not the doctors, lawyers, and professional men who have contributed greatly to the Arab states.

I drove out from Jericho to the camp. It is constructed of mud brick houses similar to those I helped build for Montenegrin refugees made homeless by the Austrian army after World War I. They are good houses, still standing in Yugoslavia, and those near Jericho are good houses too.

The chief difference is that these refugees don't work. The American Friends Service committee in Yugoslavia operated on the rule: "No work, no eat." We provided work. But the Arab refugees in Jordan either can't get work, are not supplied with, or don't want to work. In Lebanon they are not permitted by law to work.

"GET THE TRAITOR!" An exception is Musa Alami. Near Jericho he drilled a well struck water, started a truck farm. He raised chickens, installed a refrigeration plant, planted bananas, and soon operated a thriving business, hauling his produce to American Oil Company employees in Saudi Arabia.

But one day last spring, when Jordan was seething against the West, the refugees at Jericho decided to take out their vengeance on one of their own number. Storming down the road to Musa Alami's farm, yelling "get the traitor!" they destroyed his refrigeration plants, and wrung the necks of 35,000 chickens.

Musa had employed at times as many as 1,200 refugees. However, he made the fatal mistake of accepting the permanency of his residence in Jordan. He had sent down new roots in his adopted country, had given up the idea of returning to Israel. This is what made him a traitor.

During the nine years the refugees have been sitting in heat and idleness at the head of the Dead Sea, they have built up a burning passionate hate. They hate Israel and they hate Britain and the United States which have befriended Israel. Fanatic Arab leaders have used this as a weapon. Moderate Arab leaders have bowed to it because they are prisoners. Bitterness has become too strong. It was one reason the British and Glubb Pasha were kicked out of Jordan and why Jordan spent three days this year celebrating the anniversary of his exit. It's also why Jordan, while accepting American arms, will not accept an American military mission to help them use those arms.

WOULD THEY GO BACK? Moderate Arab leaders will tell you privately that if the refugees were given a chance to go back to Israel, only a handful would go back. They claim, however, that Israel must make the gesture of inviting them back, in order to "save face" for the refugees.

The United Nations, meanwhile, has been doing a superhuman job of sitting on this explosive lid. Without the meagre $27 a year the UNRWA spends to keep the refugees alive they would have precipitated war by marching across the border into Israel en masse.

The UN staff is among the best in this part of the world. But they know they face superhuman political obstacles until the basic problem is solved.

There are millions of refugees in other parts of the world—from Communist Indo-China to Free Indo-China, from India and Pakistan, from Germany, Poland, and Egypt to Israel, from Hungary all over the world. In most of these cases the refugees do not return to their former homes. They are resettled.

But in the Arab countries, they have been permitted to ferment in camps for nine years as a weapon of political hate.

The river Jordan as it flows into the Dead Sea is only 50 feet wide. But in terms of progress it is 500 years wide.

When the prophet Joshua crossed the Jordan in the days when the walls of Jericho were still standing he was endowed with the divine power to make the Jordan stand still.

I could not help but think as I crossed the Jordan that if the 35,000 refugees sitting in the heat of Jericho had worked at it, they too could have made the river Jordan stand still. In nine years they could have built a great irrigation project which would have turned the barren wastes around them into green fields. Instead they have sat in bitterness and filth while the fresh waters of the Jordan continue flowing into the brine of the Dead Sea.
